The Emory University European study tour, sponsored by the Program in Jewish Studies offers over five-week intensive course devoted to Spanish Jewish culture in Europe. Following the footsteps of the Jews who were expelled from Spain in 1492, the course will be held on location in Spain, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey, where Jews established thriving communities after the expulsion.

The course will explore over 500 years of Sephardi Jewish culture in Europe in the context of general European culture. Emphasis will be placed on the interaction and the communication of Jews with Christian and Muslims in Europe over the last five hundred years. The course combines visiting people and sites, participating in celebrations at home and in community centers, and attending lectures and discussions. The teaching format involves “hands-on” experience of the issues in different locations in Europe.

Visits to the following Sephardi communities and sites within the context of the local European communities will form the basis of the course. Spain: Madrid, Toledo, Granada, Cordoba, Seville, Girona and Barcelona. France: Paris and Marseille. Italy: Venice and Rome. Greece: Athens and Saloniki. Turkey: Istanbul and Bursa.

Arrangements will be made for students to spend time with families and communities in Europe so that they may learn first hand about their daily and communal life. Students will attend lectures and discussions presented by Emory Summer Program Faculty as well as local scholars and community and leaders.

Students will be required to participate in all activities, read several books and articles, keep a daily log of activities in Europe, make presentations and take two exams.

COST

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Academic Fee:</td>
<td>$5,300</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Room, Board and Insurance:</td>
<td>$2,250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>$7,550</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Includes fees for eight semester credit hours, health and accident insurance (duration of program), accommodations in hotels and hostels, two meals per day, some lunches, all transportation within Europe (first-class European trains and buses), all entrance fees to museums and sites, performances/concerts/plays.

CREDIT

JS 370, European Sephardi Jewish Culture on Location, 8 credit hours

PROGRAM FACULTY

Dr. Benjamin Hary, Program Director, Department of Middle Eastern Studies, Emory University
Mr. Michael Johnson, Lecturer, Department of French and Italian, Emory University
Ms. Elise Jarvis, Teaching Assistant, The Graduate Program in Jewish Studies
Ms. Rebecca Rubin, Teaching Assistant, The Graduate Program in Jewish Studies